Made here. Supported here.

Since 1968, Gallery Theater has brought people together in downtown McMinnville to experience and create live theater.

Each production brings together local performers, designers, technicians, and volunteers. Some arrive with years of experience. Others discover what they can do here for the first time. Their work gives audiences a reason to gather downtown and share an evening together.

Your support helps put that work on stage.

Volunteer time makes community theater possible, but every production also needs funding. Sponsorship helps pay for performance rights, sets, costumes, lighting, sound, and the building where rehearsals and performances happen.

For businesses, a Gallery partnership offers public recognition and opportunities to connect with audiences, employees, and clients. For individuals and organizations, it is a way to sustain a place where people can participate in the arts close to home.

We invite you to help bring our 2027 season to the stage.

OUR 2027 SEASON

Tuck Everlasting

February 19–March 14 | Main Stage

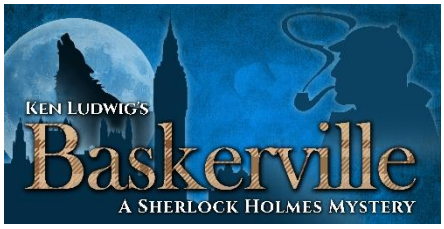

A young woman discovers a family with an extraordinary secret in this musical about love, loss, and what makes a life worth living.

Baskerville

April 2–18 | Arena Theater

Sherlock Holmes takes on a deadly family curse in a fast-paced comedy filled with suspicious characters, quick changes, and a legendary hound.

Urinetown

May 7–30 | Main Stage

In a city where a powerful corporation controls the public toilets, a young rebel leads an uprising in this sharply funny musical satire.

The Odd Couple

July 23–August 8 | Arena Theater

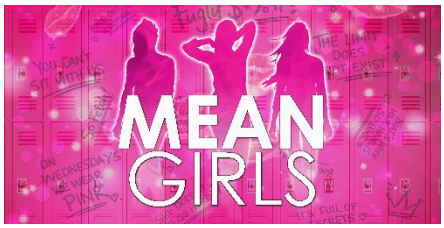

When neat freak Felix moves in with his famously messy friend Oscar, their mismatched habits turn a shared apartment into a comic battleground.

Mean Girls

September 10–October 3 | Main Stage

Cady Heron trades homeschooling for high school and discovers that fitting in comes at a price in this musical comedy about popularity, friendship, and finding your voice.

Misery

October 22–November 7 | Arena Theater

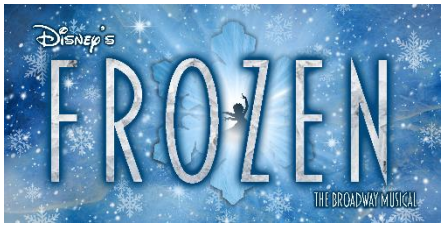

Rescued after a car crash, novelist Paul Sheldon finds himself trapped with his self-proclaimed number-one fan in this tense thriller based on Stephen King's novel.

Frozen

November 26–December 19 | Main Stage

When Elsa's hidden powers plunge Arendelle into winter, Anna sets out to find her sister in Disney's musical about love, fear, and the bond between sisters.

Your Beverages. Your Featured Nights.
Select preferred performances, subject to availability, or leave the scheduling to Gallery. One featured partner per beverage category is available at each performance.

Provide brochures, tasting-room information, or a discount voucher for display during your featured performances. We encourage a Gallery-specific offer or code so you can track customer response.

Complimentary tickets may be divided among 2027 season productions, subject to availability and advance reservation.

OTHER WAYS TO PARTNER

Show sponsorship is one way to support Gallery. Your business can also contribute through events, products, services, or a promotion that benefits both your business and the theater.

Dining & Shopping Partnerships
Connect with Gallery audiences through a promotion that gives back to local theater. Donate a portion of designated sales, contribute a set amount per purchase, or explore a package that includes Gallery tickets. Together, we'll agree on promotion, tracking, and how each partner benefits.

Gallery Theater Kids Camp

Kids Camp
Support young performers by contributing snacks, camp T-shirts, supplies, or funds toward camp expenses.

Events & Celebrations
Help make opening-night receptions, our annual awards night, anniversary gala, and other special events possible through catering, refreshments, auction donations, or financial sponsorship.

Wine, Beer & Cider
We welcome donations in other quantities or combinations beyond our Loft sponsorship levels. Contact Gallery to arrange product selection and delivery.

Carolyn Aicher and Meridith Simons at the 2025 Annual Gala

Goods & Services
Building materials, costume supplies, dry cleaning, and professional services help bring productions to the stage. Contact us before donating so we can match your offer with a current need.
